

Solar glass investment

Overview

Summary: Global demand for photovoltaic glass is surging, driven by renewable energy adoption and smart building trends. The global push towards sustainable energy has significantly increased the demand for solar technologies, with solar glass emerging as a critical component in photovoltaic (PV) modules. This article explores investment opportunities across the PV glass supply chain, supported by market data and real-world applications. Typically made from low-iron, tempered glass, it features high durability, transparency, and resistance to environmental. Trade barriers in India and incentive packages in the United States have reshaped procurement economics, pushing float-line investments onshore and fracturing a once-global supply chain. According to IMARC Group estimates, APAC. Waaree Energies has approved a capital expenditure of INR 39 billion ($415 million) to build a solar glass manufacturing facility with a capacity of 2,500 metric tons (MT) per day through its subsidiary Waaree Green Glass.
